Fags From Vets Boost Boys' Pride In Town

"Received your welcome carton of smokes and they really hit the spot," writes Cpl. Ivan E. Moulds from Scotland to the Newmarket Veterans' Soldiers' Comforts fund.

"It certainly cheers fellow up to get smokes from home, and I've done very well recently. I'm afraid that I must apologize for letting it go so long before writing to thank you as I most certainly do."

"I guess you know how you like to boast about your home town when you are away from home. You should hear the boys from town boast about ours, and when we get parcels from home we talk all the louder, and you sure are giving us lots of support."

"I'm afraid I haven't seen any of the boys from town lately. I met 'Blow' Bond, a lad from Bradford that I used to see often when I was home. He said that he had seen the Lindenbaum boy, the one who is up north, but I have not run across him yet. I also received some cigarettes from the Lilons and on the carton was a note from the one and only Ang. West. Apparently he is working in a base post office in this area, but owing to the difficulty in getting passes at the present time, I haven't been able to see him yet."

"Well, I've been from one end of this country almost to the other—of course, I've skipped a few places—but in spite of all the beauty of this country Newmarket seems like the most beautiful spot on earth to me now. I've seen the lovely Dordogne and the beautiful gardens of Kent and Sussex—and a more wonderful sight I've never seen—but it just doesn't compare with home to me."

"There is no doubt that this is one of the most lovely countries in the world, but for the wet, damp, milky weather. The main thing that I've against the country is that it doesn't rain over here. It just drizzles away for hours on end, in fact for days. The weather is also very changeable. It can be sunny and bright one minute and before you have walked a block it is raining like hell, hell, it is raining, anyway. On the other side of the picture I can really nice here and when it is nice here it can't be beat anywhere, but what am I doing telling you about the weather over here? I guess you know more about it than I will ever know."

"We do all right on the food now. I was at one camp where a man nearly starved, but we sure have good grub where we are now. We even have sugar on the table here. Apparently we eat three ounces of sugar and three of marmalade and six of meat and so that isn't bad. Of course we get a lot of mutton—in fact, quite a lot at some camps. If there's one thing that we figure that we can do without after the war it's mutton. About the best way is to commit suicide is to ask one of the boys if he would like to have a nice big dish of mutton stew. I guess it was the same when you boys were here."

Unit First To Objective Grant Crowder Tells Kin

Mr. and Mrs. Datus Crowder have received word from their son, Sgt. Grant Crowder, that he is in France. He has written four letters since D-day, with excerpts as follows:

June 11: Hello Mum and family. Here I am as well as usual and very lucky after being here six days now and none the worse for wear. Being lucky to get two hours sleep out of 36 or 48 hours. So far our landing has been very successful although the tank right in front of us blew its track on a mine ten minutes after landing. They fixed it working under fire for four hours. Now we are all together giving the Jerries the works.

We had a couple of interesting experiences when our gun and crew were called out to blow a church being used by snipers. After shelling it twice, they didn't reappear. Also the Jerries blew a truck of ours which was in enemy territory. Lots of fun, eh?

Now don't worry, we have lots of men and everything is under control and clear for

LOCAL RAIL CROSSINGS CRITICIZED BY COUNCIL

Town Clerk and Solicitor N. L. Matthews, K.C., was instructed by Newmarket town council on Monday evening to write to the Canadian National Railways regarding the poor condition of the railway crossings in Newmarket.

"They rectified the crossing on Timothy St. but made the one on Water St. worse," said Councillor J. L. Spillette.

"The government asks you to save trees and you ruin them on railway crossings," commented Mayor Dr. L. W. Dales.

A resolution was passed by the council, requesting that Mr. Matthews write the Toronto and York Roads Commission with a view to having them contribute a part of the cost of the maintenance of the wig-wags located on Huron and Water Sts.

"There is no doubt that this is one of the most lovely countries in the world, but for the wet, damp, milky weather. The main thing that I've against the country is that it doesn't rain over here. It just drizzles away for hours on end, in fact for days. The weather is also very changeable. HOSPITAL IS GRANTED $10,000; FARMERS ASK FOR ARMY AID

Additional Cost Of Sewer Assumed By Town Council

A delegation representing 36 counties endorsing York county's request for soldier help on Thursday met Defence Minister Ralston, Agriculture Minister Gardiner, Labour Minister Mitchell and Arthur MacNamara, director of national selective service, and appealed for the granting of harvest leaves of at least 60 days to members of the Home Defence Army.

The delegation, under the auspices of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture, included H. H. Hannan, Ottawa, president and managing director of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture; V. S. Milburn, Toronto, secretary of the O.F.A.; R. A. Stewart of Almonte, a member of the O.F.A. executive; Boynton Waldrich of Thornhill and W. L. Clarke of Gormley, president and secretary, respectively, of the York agricultural committee, and W. M. Cockburn, agricultural representative for York county.

The delegation presented a resolution, endorsed by 36 Ontario county federations of agriculture, stating that Ontario farmers were facing the harvesting of one of the biggest crops of hay and grain in their history "with diminishing labor supply and very disappointing results in getting western help."

The resolution urged that the government act immediately to make help available from the potential labor pool in the defence army by granting at least 60 days' leave to experienced agricultural workers in the ranks, such leave to be made effective not later than July 10.

The delegation said much of the hay crop would be lost if it was not harvested within the next week or two, and that a heavy grain crop was coming up shortly which had to be harvested.

Col. Ralston arranged for a meeting with Maj.-Gen. Letton, adjutant general, and Air Vice-Marshall Sully the following day at which the committee was represented by Mr. Hannan to discuss the possibility of relaxing the regulations governing army leave and the possibility of air force leave being extended to include farmers other than those of immediate relatives.

Mr. Cockburn, who presented the situation on behalf of the committee, stressed the urgent need for quick action, pointing out that in York county alone there are scores of applications that cannot be filed.

Mr. Hannan said the minister and Mr. MacNamara gave the delegation an "excellent hearing" and promised to give the "utmost consideration" to the emergent situation outlined.

Mr. Cockburn said today that those farmers needing help should file their applications with him at once in case leave regulations are amended to release soldiers or airmen to harvest.

Hungry Pike Tempted By Fisherman's Toes

Somewhere in Franklin Pond, a pike is chuckling over the frailty of human flesh. And in Newmarket, Bert Budd is nursing a set of sore toes.

According to a fellow fish enthusiast, Bert was wading barefooted up the stream north of the pond in search of minnows. So intent was he that he didn't notice a 14-inch pike poking along behind him.

Perhaps it was curiosity, perhaps Bert's toes looked like a good meal. Anyway, the fish bit, Bert yelled and splashed for shore. There's some talk in town of presenting Bert with a pair of waders to protect him in future.

THANK YOU

This is our debut on the editorial page of The Era and Express and we want to take advantage of the occasion to say thank you for your friendly welcome. Everyone we have met these past two weeks has been most helpful and has wished our stay a happy one. We hope the acquaintance will be long and fruitful and that we may repay your kindness with service.

Especially we are grateful for our reception by four Indians of a warrior tribe who were skirmishing about the shrubbery on Millard Ave. the other afternoon. The four warriors (they were eight years old or so, wore war-paint and carried most frightening weapons) took us for a member of an enemy tribe and were for the immediate dispossessing of our scalp. When we explained we were a newcomer and unfamiliar with local tribal customs, they permitted us to go in peace.

Let the four warriors know by this that their courteous treatment of a stranger in their hunting grounds is acknowledged.

STATEMENT OF POLICY

It seems to us that a statement of policy is fitting at this time. The Era and Express is in the service of the community and we believe in the community has the right to a frank announcement of our intentions and the principles by which we are guided.

The Era and Express is an independent newspaper; it owes no allegiance to any political party or particular interest. We believe in this principle of independence. The newspaper which associates itself with a political party or particular interest, as the organ of that party or interest, fails in its duty to the community. Such a newspaper, of necessity, is limited in its right to criticism and is biased in its utterances. We believe that the editorial columns of a newspaper are for the benefit of the community, not the few.

Criticism or praise in the press are two of the most important factors in the progress of a community. Exposure in the press of political wrongs and social evils plays an important part in their correction. Praise in the press is necessary encouragement to good works. Our policy is criticism where criticism is required; praise where praise is earned. We are conscious of the importance of the editorial page and we will not speak thoughtlessly.

Equally important of the functions of a newspaper is the reporting of news of the community. Where news is reported carelessly or with bias, it is harmful to the community and to the individual. We will report news as completely and as honestly as possible with favor to no man and in fairness to all.

Above all, The Era and Express is your distributor of news, your means of expression and your advertising medium. We will welcome your opinions, your advice and your criticism that we may continue to improve our service to you.

THE COMMON ROUND

BY ISABEL INGLIS COLVILLE

ESCAPE

Quite to the contrary, I am filled with joy and optimism; old chronic fears of long standing are being uprooted. At times I feel like weeping, I am so happy; these are wonderful times. A new world with boundless possibilities is being created. I keep constantly within earshot of my radio; my pockets bulge with the latest editions of the dailies; my home is plastered with war maps; Churchill cheers troops on Normandy beachhead; De Gaulle sings Marseillaise with French patriots; Stalin rolls up Mannerheim line; Randolph Churchill praises Yugoslav partisans; C.C.F. sweeps Saskatchewan. The world I want is unfolding at such blitzkrieg tempo, I can scarcely keep abreast with its progress.

So why all this prattle about freedom? Who are these gentlemen who carry little scales wrapped in the financial page, who would measure out our freedom so graciously? It does not require volumes of pernicious doctrines or long complicated presidential reports to the shareholders to explain the kind of freedom I want. It is real freedom not the verbal variety.

I too want to be socially free, but not if it deprives others of their freedom. I too would like a modern home, green, blue or mauve. The color scheme is not so important as up-to-date conveniences. However, I do not want such a home if it forces my neighbor to live in a piano-box, teepee, or someone's unused hen-house. That sort of freedom is a negation of the negotiation. For example, what manner of host would amably expound the right to eat fresh apple-pie and then sit down and greedily devour the whole last pie himself, before your very eyes?

I too want to be capable of personal achievement and success, and to co-operate in the achievement of others. I want my right to work guaranteed by law. I want the right to a higher education, but not so I might deprive the intelligent worker of his full share of production. I do not want to be just a pawn in a game for a group of industrialists and bankers. I want to live by the labor of my own hands. Success obtained otherwise seems synthetic to me; like going in paddling with my socks on.

It is boring to see hereditary parasites thumb their vests and pompously declare: "I built the Santa-Go railroad" or "I opened the Gipu gold mine," when I know all he did personally was sit in a comfortable swivel-chair fingering ticker tape; vigilantly checking the payroll; or instructing his secretary to arrange all his appointments for next Tuesday when he could conveniently be at the races.

I too want the joy of possession, but not to be selfishly possessive. I too would like a streamlined car but not merely to draw the envy of my neighbor, Bill Smith—Bill, who has faithfully punched the time-clock at the local plant for 35 years, Bill who has six children but no car. I want to see Bill with his whole brood standing on some lakeshore, with their feet buried in the sand and the soft cool breezes blowing through the pines. I want to see little Emmy, Johnny and Sairy eating weiners and popcicles, with Collie barking and frisking in the sun—the Smiths, who have always spent their weekends cooped up on their tumbled-down verandah, in the fetid atmosphere and sweltering heat.

Will it restrict any individual's freedom to give Bill such a break? Is it regimentation to change an ugly picture into a beautiful one? Will this democratic democracy be too extreme? I do not believe that the people's zeal for increased reform endangers free institutions.

In the world I want we will not fear reformists' swindles. The people will be educated to recognize instantly the hypocritical prattle of political quacks. Upstarts such as Hitler, Mussolini, Trotsky, Louies and Nicks will not survive the first hustings. The world I want will have an international government, elected in the democratic way, with a world court which will have the authority to deal with mass murderers and international brigands, who would pilfer the natural resources of weak defenseless peoples.

The world I want is no longer a dream; free courageous men are marching through the meadows of Normandy; into the Carpathian foothills; over the Yugoslavian steeps, shaping my world into a reality.

We must not cheat our gallant crusaders of the victory again.

Friends Assemble Here

BY ELMA M. STARR

The Yearly Meeting of the Religious Society of Friends was held at Pickering College June 28 to July 2. To the growing spirit of unity which has encouraged our meeting together further incentive was added in the excellent accommodations of the college and the hearty welcome of the headmaster, Joseph McCullay.

The younger members of all three groups of Friends, who have been holding yearly meetings of their own for the past 20 years, also met here and held three sessions of their own as well as attending and helping in the sessions of their elders.

Among those attending were Friends from Toronto, London, St. Thomas, Norwich, Pickering, Niagara Falls and Welland, Ont.; Borden, Sack, New York, Connecticut and Florida, U.S.A.

Ephesians or letters were received from many of the Yearly Meetings in the United States and from several of the overseas meetings. The epistles from the mother Yearly Meeting in London, England, was read in full. A joint committee issued a reply to all messages entitled "To All Friends Everywhere."

Each day at 9:30 in the morning, a 45-minute fellowship worship period was followed by morning and afternoon business meetings with committee meetings at intermissions. Evening meetings began at eight o'clock and included Alexander Purdy, Hosmer Professor of New Testament at Hartford Theological Seminary, among the speakers.

Another evening, a letter from Edith Sharpless, recently returned from Japan, was read along with the reports of the Friends Missionary Board. Letters were also read from Gurney and Elizabeth Bindford who, after 40 years in Japan, are still with the mission board and have done excellent work among evacuated Japanese in the United States.

An evening of poetry was enjoyed when Wilson MacDonald read from his own works.

At 11 in the morning on First Day, July 2, Friends and others gathered to worship in the Newmarket Friends meeting house. The silence of the meeting was broken by short communications and vocal prayers from several ministers and others. After dinner at the college, there was another meeting for worship at the Friends meeting house on Yonge St.

Ready to serve . . . 24 hours a day

In the early days of commercial flying, hours of daylight were far too short. The mantle of night automatically cancelled flying schedules. But . . . because electrical engineers discovered ways and means of flooding runways with light . . . swift couriers of the air tonight are cutting hours off time, carrying precious burdens of humanity and vital correspondence that may mean the saving of thousands of dollars before tomorrow's workday has been completed.

Electricity has not only helped to make flying economically sound, but, with the aid of modern electronics, flying is safer. Today . . . tonight . . . airplanes are guided safely, surely on their course by a beam of electrical waves which electronics made possible. In every field of endeavor, as in the field of aviation, electricity stands ready to serve 24 hours a day.

The development of electrical devices in the field of aeronautics is but one indication of what lies ahead for the world of tomorrow. In the electrical field it can be truly said . . . the best is yet to come. Electricity is the servant of mankind. In commerce . . . in industry . . . at home and on the farm . . . it lightens our tasks, makes life more comfortable. Plan and save now, so that, when the day of peace arrives, you will be ready to enjoy more of the benefits that electricity can bring you.

50% MORE JAM
or JELLY from your Fruit
with Certo

WARTIME JAM AND JELLY MAKERS—economize on time, work and fuel. You'll do all of this if you use Certo... and you'll make better jams and jellies.

With Certo you'll get up to one-half more jam or jelly from the same amount of fruit. You'll do it in about one-third the time and with the greatest of ease.

SUCH A SHORT BOIL—
With Certo there's no need for long, tedious boiling and stirring. Certo jams need only a one to two-minute full, rolling boil... Certo jellies a half-minute to a minute. What a saving that means in time, effort and fuel!

BETTER TASTE AND COLOUR—The short Certo boil does not spoil the natural taste or dull the natural colour of your fruit as long boiling does. Certo jams and jellies retain all the taste and colour of the fresh fruit. They are not only firmer and more sparkling—they taste better;
look more appetizing.

NO GUESSWORK—with Certo you get a book of easy-to-follow recipes. Because different fruits need different handling there's a separate recipe for each fruit. Follow exactly the recipe for the fruit you are using and you can be sure of success.

WHAT CERTO IS—Certo is fruit pectin—the natural jelling substance in fruit—extracted from fruits in which it is most plentiful. It allows you to make jam or jelly from fully ripe fruit instead of in old-fashioned recipes.

Look for Book of 72 Tested Recipes
under the Label of every Certo Bottle

SO MUCH MORE JAM OR JELLY—
In this very short boil practically none of your fruit juice can go off in steam as it does during the old-fashioned, long boil. So you get up to one-half more jam or jelly from the same amount of fruit.

A pound of jam or jelly made the Certo way contains no more sugar than a pound made the old, long-boil way.

MOVIES PARADE

Heralded as one of the fastest-moving comedies to be turned out by Hollywood in recent years; Paramount's Standing Room Only, which plays Wednesday, Thursday at the Strand theatre, is living up to advance notices.

The picture, which stars Paulette Goddard and Fred MacMurray, has Edward Arnold, Roland Young and Porter Hall as supporting players.

The story concerns the rooming shortage in Washington and on this theme is built the story which is said to be provoking gales of laughter.

Paulette and Fred are called upon to fill roles of cook and butler, quite by accident, in order to get overnight lodgings in the nation's capital. The arrangement is so convenient that they decide to carry on as domestic servants. Roland Young, master of the household when his wife, Ann Revere, isn't henpecking him to distraction, is as lenient a taskmaster as could be found anywhere.

He obliges Fred by permitting days off in order for the latter to put through an important business deal, the original purpose of his visit. Paulette, really his secretary, covers up for the absent butler, providing more complications to an already tangled situation.

INVASION MAKES MORE URGENT
THE SAVING OF CIVILIAN GAS!

A Message to Canadian Motorists

THE invasion of Europe has thrown a vast and critical burden upon the petroleum resources of the United Nations.

In the first eight days of the campaign alone Allied aircraft flew 56,000 sorties. Many thousands of oil-burning warships and landing barges are shuttling ceaselessly across the Channel. Tanks, trucks, jeeps, mobile artillery, ambulances, by the thousands, are in action.

The driving power behind all this activity is petroleum—gasoline and fuels drawn from a dwindling crude oil supply. But—there is only so much oil. If existing supplies are to prove adequate, the most stringent economy of gasoline and fuel oil must be practiced here at home.

Canada is able to produce only 15% of her own gas and oil needs. The remainder must be imported from the common pool of the United Nations and the bulk of this is shipped here by tankers. Critical manpower is needed to produce our gasoline and oil. Precious lives and precious ships must be risked to deliver it to our shores.

Invasions, and the difficulties of supply and transportation are not our only problems. Right here in Canada gas and oil are needed in enormous quantities for vital war purposes.

The Commonwealth Air Training Plan has consumed as much as 548,000 gallons in a single day. Canada's Navy—expanded since war began from 15 ships to 650—consumes over 2,150,000 gallons every week. Army training, war plant operation, food production, essential trucking—all are huge consumers of gasoline and petroleum products.

Gasoline is ammunition—ammunition of which we have all too little. To waste a gallon of it is a crime against our fighting men.

Canada is able to produce only 15% of her own gas and oil needs. The remainder must be imported from the common pool of the United Nations and the bulk of this is shipped here by tankers. Critical manpower is needed to produce our gasoline and oil. Precious lives and precious ships must be risked to deliver it to our shores.

How much gasoline was consumed during the 84 days of pre-invasion bombing?... More than 200,000,000 gallons.

How much fuel oil does a battleship take in one refueling?... Enough to heat an average house for 250 years.

How much fuel does one armoured division consume in every five miles of advance?... 10,000 gallons.

How many gallons of petroleum products are required to supply the needs of 200,000 European invasion troops for a week?... Over 2,000,000 gallons.

I have visited several places of historic importance but that is about all I have done here with the exception of a short leave, which I had and enjoyed also. DOWN THE CENTRE

Meet the Redmen Softballers: This year Newmarket camp softballers have gathered together one of their best aggregations in years except for two factors. The boys are in the luckless class, losing most of their games by narrow margins, and are light hitters, getting hits when no one is on the bases, and failing to come through in the pinchers. They are battling hard for a play-off berth in the C.A.C. league and with a little bit of luck can still make it.

Clair Ekelby, the veteran of the team both from point of age and time at Newmarket, shares the catching duties with Cliff Mills of Copper Cliff. This department is well cared for and if Mills is on the job "Ex" goes to another spot on the team.

Jackie Moon, diminutive hurler from Chatham, brings back memories of Pee-Wee Simpson, hurler on the first camp team. He has good control and a fair assortment of hooks. Jimmy Green of Windsor shares mound duties and it is pretty hard to choose between the two. He knows where he is putting the ball all the time and makes few mistakes.

Ed Cunningham of Kingston holds down the initial bag and can really go for a ball. He played senior ball in the Limestone City and is a fair clubber. Bernie Gantner who played on the first camp team is a tower of strength at the keystone post, but so far has not yet shown his top form of other days.

Lieut. Jack Barrow is the versatile artist of the team playing all positions equally well. Mr. Barrow is a native of Toronto and was formerly stationed at Borden.

Lieut. Bill Palsley, another ex-Torontonian and Bordenite, covers the short-stop area with plenty of skill and can go either side equally well. He has a nice throwing arm too.

Johnny Callahan, the smiling Irishman of hockey fame, has done equally well in the infield or outfield, and at bat too. Last year he was one of the best fielders in the Davisville circuit with R.C.O.C. Red Crowley, a youngster from Dit Clapper's hometown, Hastings, is a newcomer to the outfit who has already won his spurs.

Harvey Avison, the swoon kid of the '41 hockeyists so far as the females go, has been sensational in the outer pasture and is one of the neatest fielders ever seen at the camp.

Mac Hayward, a Fort William boy, is a better than average fly-chaser and is bound to improve as he gets a little more savor fare. Punch Bellamy, a lance-corporal from Toronto, and Irish O'Connor also make a good fist of things as they chase the big apple with plenty of speed afoot. They both have sure hands for grabbing the ball.

Sgt. Jack McDonald, ex-coach of the hockey club, now spreading harmony and team play among the boys, is coaching the team and doing a nice stint. Jack, a native of Hanover, Ontario, has few superiors at getting men to "give for dear old Alma Mater." He has just about recovered from his broken ankle.

Lieut. Bert Kennedy and Capt. Eric Osborne complete the board of strategy, arrange all the details necessary and generally "father" the boys both on and off the diamond.

The team wears white trousers and purple and gold shirts, the same as last year. This year's edition of the Redmen may not win many games but if they ever get perkling on all fours they will be hard to stop. They are a credit to the camp.

SPORTS...

FROM WHERE WE STAND

By De. Gandy

In Richmond Hill Monday evening darkness played a winning hand for the Indians, when in the first half of the sixth inning, the local kids walked four runs past the plate to even the count 11-11.

Empires then called the game and reported back to the last full inning, leaving the boys on the score card 11-11.

Gooch, a city midget hurler playing his position on the mound for the Richmond Hill nine, was not as effective as in his earlier performance and Charlie Van Zandt's bats took advantage of this to count for 10 hits in the inning.

Broughton and Tommy Dillay, a new comer to the kids lineup, pitched steady ball allowing a few scattered hits.

If these kids keep plugging along Charlie will have an entry in the Ontario play-offs to keep the name of Newmarket, "hub of North York," in the athletic world.

Before the season finished, infant softball will be the discussion across the dinner plate.

The Dixon club felt another one on the books Monday evening at the hands of the Office Specialty, that after a disastrous last two innings when it rained created the home plate to make the score 16-16.

The win for the office staff puts their club on a par with the strong town aggregation and Pat Naef, coach, says that when these two teams meet again the players will have to be on their toes to hold the top spot in the league.
